Evaluating Truth and Credibility

INTRODUCTION

- It is established that we do business with people that we know, like and trust. In most interactions, individuals put too much emphasis on the spoken word. This can lead to relationship breakdown. This Evaluating Truth and Credibility training seminar will teach you how to read and evaluate others through their verbal and nonverbal behaviour and use this skill to accurately evaluate their credibility or uncover any deception.
- During this Evaluating Truth and Credibility training seminar you will go far beyond just analysing the words, you will learn how to read and interpret all 5 core channels of communication and how these can be used to expose the true thoughts of others.

This training seminar will highlight:

- Developing your ability to assess the credibility of others through their verbal and nonverbal behaviours
- Learning how to spot Micro-expressions using Dr. Paul Ekman's pioneering training techniques
- Practicing and honing your deception detection skills using real participants and live exercises
- Analysing the psychological processes that occur when people lie
- Employ an effective interviewing model that will enable you to elicit valuable information from others

OBJECTIVES

By the end of this Evaluating Truth and Credibility training seminar, participants will learn to:

- Identify hidden messages & deception in others
 - Enhance your ability to analyse verbal & nonverbal behavioural cues
 - Develop robust questioning strategies to elicit valuable information from others
 - Develop knowledge on leakage
 - Identify the importance of baselines and when they occur

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

- Participants to this Evaluating Truth and Credibility training seminar will receive a thorough training on the subjects covered by the seminar outline with the instructor utilising a variety of proven adult learning teaching and facilitation techniques.
